The WMD xSuite® offers you advantageous solutions for optimizing your critical business processes

Our xSuite portfolio includes workflow solution packages with best practices that apply both across ERP systems and specifically to SAP ERP. WMD has expanded its product portfolio. Its classical on-premises solutions are now supplemented with services in the cloud.

WMD xSuite combines a generic platform with predefined workflows for document-based business processes. Reputable clients from mid-sized and large companies come to WMD for xSuite solutions that cover key operations — to name just a few, xFlow Invoice for verifying vendor invoices, xFlow Procurement for simplifying the procurement process, and xFlow Orders for processing customer orders.

The key benefits in the functionality of our software are derived from the use of a core cross-process component ensuring centralized administration. A unified user interface for different business processes simplifies work for end users. Those who work with xFlow Invoice can adapt themselves to xFlow Procurement and other WMD solutions more easily.

When you speak to us, you are speaking directly to the developer of your software

We respond promptly to our customers' demands and requests. Regular client contact and customer surveys ensure that new requirements are incorporated directly into product development. With the software support we offer, you will benefit from regular product innovations. Exchange with our clients continually results in useful new applications and features. WMD responses to client suggestions include such features as the Vendor Portal, the integration of data extraction into SAP, and Web access on mobile devices.

Our customers are important to us

The annual WMD USER FORUM provides a relaxed atmosphere where clients, suppliers, partners, and WMD's team of experts can engage in exchange. It's an opportunity to get first-hand information on all the innovations that are being incorporated into WMD products. Around 500 participants regularly benefit from the networking opportunities and productive exchange at the User Forum. For clients with special requirements, we also arrange special events — we can visit you at your company to dialog directly with representatives from different countries and convey information in person. Also, we introduce potential customers to the benefits and added value of xSuite by putting on roadshows with reference customers.
